DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. Color photographs and color drawings are acceptable only for examination purposes unless a petition filed under 37 CFR 1.84(a)(2) is granted permitting their use as acceptable drawings. In the event that applicant wishes to use the drawings currently on file as acceptable drawings, a petition must be filed for acceptance of the color photographs or color drawings as acceptable drawings. Any such petition must be accompanied by the appropriate fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(h), three sets of color drawings or color photographs, as appropriate, and, unless already present, an amendment to include the following language as the first paragraph of the brief description of the drawings section of the specification:

The patent or application file contains at least one drawing executed in color. Copies of this patent or patent application publication with color drawing(s) will be provided by the Office upon request and payment of the necessary fee.

Color photographs will be accepted if the conditions for accepting color drawings have been satisfied.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 23 and 24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.
4. Regarding claim 23, the phrase "or the like" renders the claim(s) indefinite because the claim(s) include(s) elements not actually disclosed (those encompassed by "or the like"), thereby rendering the scope of the claim(s) unascertainable. See MPEP § 2173.05(d).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

6. Claims 1, 2, 8 and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hosaka et al. (6,448,500).

Hosaka et al. discloses a system (Figures 1-2) comprising a first conduction path (4), dielectric material (4a) positioned along the first conduction path such that transmission of a signal along the first conduction path tends to change the transmission properties of the first conduction path toward a relatively steady state, as the dielectric material is exposed to the signal, a means for impressing a bias potential across the dielectric material, the bias impressing means including at least one conductor (2,2a) independent of the first conduction path (re claims 1, 8 and 9). Hosaka et al. also discloses the bias impressing means including at least two conductors (2, 6) independent of the first conduction path (re claim 2). Noted that the system of Hosaka et al. can be used for communicating a signal between a first electrical device having an output connection to supply a signal and a second electrical device having an input connection to receive the signal since the system of Hosaka et al. comprises structure and material as claimed in claims 1, 8 and 9.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

7. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

8. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary.

Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

9. Claims 3-7 and 10-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hosaka et al. in view of Nun (6,328,747).

Hosaka et al. discloses the invention substantially as claimed except for the bias impressing means including an external energy source which can be a battery or an AC/DC converter (re claims 3-5, 10-12, 17, 18, 23-25). Nun discloses a system comprising an energy source (106), which can be a battery or an AC/DC converter (col. 11, lines 50-52), supplying voltage to conductors (60). It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to use the energy source as taught by Nun in the system of Hosaka et al. to supply voltage for conductors in the system. Re claims 6, 7, 13-16, 19-22, the modified cable of Hosaka et al. can be used as an audio or a video cable for transmitting audio signal or video signal since it comprises structure and material as claimed. In addition, it has been held that a recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. In a claim drawn to a process of making, the intended use must result in a manipulative difference as compared to the prior art. See In re Casey, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and In re Otto, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963).

Cited Art

10. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Williams et al., Walters, and Ono et al. disclose systems for transmitting signal between two electrical devices.
